

Crippled by Rheumatism.

Those who have Rheumatism find themselves growing steadily worse all the while. One reason of this is that the remedies prescribed by the doctors contain mercury and potash, which ultimately intensify the disease by causing the joints to swell and stiffen, producing a severe aching of the bones. S. S. S. has been curing Rheumatism for twenty years—even the worst cases which seemed almost incurable.

Capt. O. E. Hughes, the popular railroad conductor, of Columbia, S. C., had an experience with Rheumatism which convinced him that there is only one cure for that painful disease. He says: "I was a great sufferer from muscular Rheumatism for two years. I could get no permanent relief from any medicine prescribed by my physician. I took about a dozen bottles of your S. S. S., and now I am as well as ever was in my life. I am sure that your medicine cured me, and I would recommend it to any one suffering from any blood disease."

Everybody knows that Rheumatism is a diseased state of the blood, and only a blood remedy is the only proper treatment, but a remedy containing potash and mercury only aggravates the trouble.

S.S.S. For the Blood

being Purely Vegetable, goes direct to the very cause of the disease and a permanent cure always results. It is the only blood remedy guaranteed to contain no potash, mercury or other dangerous minerals.

IF I WERE YOU.
I wouldn't think about distress,
If I were you;
I wouldn't even once confess
To ever feeling blue,
But when the sun is well disposed
To shine upon our friends and foes
I'd be content with even less,
If I were you.
Just let it rain or snow or shine;
I'll bring no gain
To blame misfortune or repine;
The longest lane
Will end sometime, and every day
Roses will bloom along the way,
Because of rain.
Then sing your songs; cry if you must,
But keep in view
The healthy soul inspiring trust
That's always due
To them that strive to live above
All earthly things—excepting love;
I'd let all other treasures rust,
If I were you!

FATE OF A CAESAR'S ASHES.

Shakespeare's Conject Finds a Counterpart in Reality.

When Shakespeare put in the mouth of Hamlet the curious conceit about the dust of the great Alexander having become loam and then stopping a bung hole in a beer barrel, he had seemed to reach the ultimate extravagance of imagination. Yet, near the Porta Salaria a still more unexpected extravagance was revealed after the excavations carried on there. In these a cippus, or sepulchral column, containing a cinerary urn of rare oriental alabaster was brought to light. The inscription on the cippus revealed that the ashes contained within the urn were those of Calpurnius Piso Licinianus, who, in February, A. D. 69, was proclaimed Caesar by the Emperor Galbra. Four days afterward Galbra was killed, and Piso also suffered death in his thirty-first year. His were the ashes that the alabaster urn contained.

The precious urn was given to a workman employed on the premises to take care of. Some days after, when the proprietor of the place asked for the urn, he found it empty. "Where," said he, "are the ashes that were here?" The workman, surprised, said that he gathered them together and, never dreaming that they were any good, but being white and clean, sent them to his wife to make lye for her washing! And thus, said the late Shakespeare Wood, describing this incident, have the ashes of an imperial Caesar, adopted by Galbra as Tiberius was adopted by Augustus and accepted by the senate, been used more than 18 centuries after his death by a Roman washerwoman to cleanse her dirty linen, together with the ashes of other members of the family in whose veins flowed the noble blood of Crassus and of Pompey the Great!—Baltimore Sun.

His Nerve Won.

"It was such a good joke on me," said the girl in gray to the girl in blue as they stirred their chocolate, "that I must tell you.
"You know how John has been proposing to me at regular intervals ever since he was out of knickerbockers. Well, he did it again the other night, and, with his usual facility, chose an occasion when I was very cross.
"He did it a little more awkwardly than usual, too, deliberately choosing the old-fashioned method of offering me 'his hand and heart.'
Here she paused to drink some chocolate, and the girl in blue asked breathlessly what she said.
"Oh," remarked the other in the tone of one relating an event of no importance, "I told him that I believed I was already provided with the full quota of bodily organs, and that I wouldn't deprive him."
"And what did he say?"
"Well, Belle, that's the funny thing. He seemed to brace up, and said politely that at any rate there was no doubt about my having my full share of cheek! And I was so delighted to find a man capable of even that much repartee on being rejected—that I accepted him."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Hawthorne and Salem.

Way down in a little side street in Salem is Hawthorne's birthplace. It is modest, but withal a proper house with a gambrel roof, without which no house need apply for the position of bringing forth celebrities. Beyond is that bore of a custom house, and all around are houses of seven gables. You will be pursued by little boys who spot your tourist's intent and who give you Hawthorne's history at a rate that threatens the urchin's tongue and teeth. When they are through, if you have not understood it all, they will say it all over again. A penny in the slot phonograph could do no better.—Time and the Hour.

A Remarkable Career.

The most remarkable official career in the United States was that of John Quincy Adams. It extended over 48 years, and embraced 15 years in the diplomatic service as minister to Russia, Prussia and the Netherlands, five years as senator, eight years as secretary of state, four years as president and 16 years as a representative in congress.

Bonner's Drink.

Somebody asked Robert Bonner once if he were a teetotaler.
"Am I a teetotaler? No," said Mr. Bonner in answer to the question; "no, I am not a teetotaler. I had a glass of sherry when I came to New York in 1844."
It is not on record whether he ever took another.
